

I am against the proposed expansion of the Low Power FM stations. I listen to the K-Love Radio Network out of California. There is no local station that offers Contemporary Christian music. As a financial "listener supporter" of this station, I appreciate that its format is commercial free. This station offers a positive, family friendly format and I never have to worry about obscenities, off-color jokes or sexual innuendo either by the disc jockeys or in the music itself. It also provides a format where my local church can announce up-coming events to local listeners. I feel it is in the public interest to continue to provide a radio station like K-Love for listeners in my area such as myself. It is the only radio station I listen to. If it should be replaced with any other type of local programming, I would no longer listen to the radio. I enjoy being able to choose to listen to this national service. Again, I am opposed to the expansion of the Low Power FM stations.
